UNIQUE CONTEST

J. C. Cablish Defeats C. F. Breeze Skinning Rabbits

Contests for victory on the battlefield, glory in the athletic arena and the strife for supremacy in political ambition have long actuated mankind to strenuous efforts, but unique in the rivalry of competitors for fame stands the "rabbit-skinning" game.

It was introduced in Maysville by Mr. W. S. Morehouse of Chicago.

Messrs. J. C. Cablish and C. F. Breeze have long been recognized as local experts.

The first event of the season was pulled off at Mr. Breeze's place of business last night before an interested crowd of spectators.

Six of the "bunnies" were placed before each of the contestants, and at the count of three the "fur began to fly."

In just 2 minutes and 39 seconds Mr. Cablish had completed his task.

Mr. Breeze finished just a second later.

Impartial judges, however, declared it a draw, for while Mr. Cablish had the advantage of a second in time consumed, it was noticed that, in his hurry, he had overlooked an important requirement.

The superiority of the prowess of the two gentlemen will be decided at a later date, and as each has his coterie of backers an exciting contest is looked forward to.

Ray's Cough Syrup will cure any cough or money refunded. 25 cents.

Mr. Morris Coughlin yesterday purchased a beautiful black horse, 15½ hands high, from a Manchester farm, to be used as a harness horse.

William Jennings Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt, Secretary Taft, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, Senator Bailey and many other notables, prominent in the affairs of this and various foreign countries, are cleverly impersonated at the burlesque Gridiron Club banquet, which is one of the amusing first part features in the performance of the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels, which is to be given at Washington Theater Friday night. The banquet is a take-off on the annual dinner given by the Gridiron Club in the National Capital by an organization of that name, composed exclusively of prominent men and newspaper correspondents. Al. Field has prepared a most amusing dialogue for the scenes enacted at the burlesque function and the idea is proving an entertaining feature in the minstrel show. Recently William Jennings Bryan had occasion to see himself impersonated in the Field show in Atlanta, and only a few nights ago "Uncle Joe" Cannon laughed at himself until tears came to his eyes, when the minstrel performance was given in his home city, Danville, Ill.

COATS

The separate coat is again a feature of the winter styles. In its best form—Wooltex, of course,—it is of generous cut and rather simple trimming scheme. Its easy fit suggests, rather than conceals, the perfect figure. The looser of the loose coats have just the proper fullness for grace and swing.

All prices between $7½ and $30 and superb value in every dollar's worth.

WARNER'S Rust-Proof

For the Generously Proportioned Figure.

The fan-shaped front is more than ornamental. It flattens the abdomen without unpleasant pressure. The long skirts closely envelop the hips and give graceful lines to the figure. Fine, firm Coutille.
